

2006 Youth of the Year, Colleen Brown

Colleen grew-up in Guam and migrated to Washington with her mom, sister and two brothers at the age of 12. The decision to leave the familiar was a courageous one and took every ounce of determination the family had.

Since the age of nine, Colleen has demonstrated exemplary leadership and service in her home and family. Today, she has an important role in her family as a reliable daughter, supportive sister and dependable cousin.

This remarkable young lady helps her mother in the house, cares for her medically-fragile brother and helps with her cousins who arrived in 2005. Colleen's strong sense of family helps her understand that family comes first and she does what she can to support her family in every way.

Soon Colleen will pass the honor on to the next exceptional teen. Each participant will be judged on leadership qualities and service exhibited through: Home and Family, Moral Character, Community, School, Service to Club, Life Goals, Obstacles Overcome, Essays, Poise and Public Speaking.
